Academic Responsibility at GNA University
GNA University is an academic community that is committed to personal and professional integrity on the part of all its members. The University’s policies and procedures regarding academic responsibility were designed in accordance with our commitment to the five fundamental values that define academic integrity: honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. Supporting these values in letter and spirit is the responsibility of each member of the GNA community.

The students are responsible for the preparation and presentation of work representing their own individual endeavors. Acceptance of this responsibility is essential to the educational process and must be considered as an expression of mutual trust, the foundation upon which creative scholarship rests. The students are directed to observe great care when preparing all written work and to fully acknowledge the source of all ideas and language other than their own. The students of GNA University should familiarize themselves with the University’s policies concerning academic responsibility and ask their instructors for clarification concerning academic responsibility whenever they have any queries.

Academic Requirements
Every program has specific requirements clearly outlined in the curriculum. In addition, GNA University has some general requirements which must be fulfilled. In many cases, the general requirements overlap with the specific major course requirements. Nature of Courses Offered at GNA University
At GNA University, all the courses are divided into following categories:

i. There will be a Core Course in every semester. This is the course which should compulsorily be studied by a candidate as a core requirement to complete the requirement of a degree in the said program/discipline of study. The Core Course cannot be substituted by any other course.
ii. A core course offered in a discipline/subject may be treated as an elective by other discipline/subject or vice versa and such elective may also be referred as Generic Elective.
iii. Dissertation/Project: A core course designed to acquire special/advanced knowledge, such as Project work/ Dissertation work is carried out by a candidate on his/her own with an advisory support from the faculty member. The Project work/ Dissertation work involving application of knowledge in solving/analysing/exploring a real life situation/difficult problem can be of two types—

Choice Based Credit System (CBCS)

The CBCS provides choice to students to select from the prescribed courses (core, interdisciplinary and life skill courses). The credit based semester system provides flexibility in designing curriculum and assigning credits based on the course content and hours of teaching. The CBCS provides a 'cafeteria' type approach in which the students can take courses of their preference, learn at their own pace, undergo additional courses and acquire more than the required credits, and adopt an interdisciplinary approach to learning. CBCS enables the students to gratify their scholastic needs and aspirations as the system provides enhanced learning opportunities through interdisciplinary curriculum.

Salient Features of Choice Based Credit System (CBCS)

• It enables the student to attain a degree by accumulating required number of credits prescribed for that degree as per the model framework for program structure under study.

• It offers flexibility, as the student, apart from the core courses, has a choice in selecting courses as electives, relevant to the program of study and the program structure. The aim is to provide students to undertake inter-disciplinary courses (as electives). Interdisciplinary approach enables integration of concepts, theories, techniques, and perspectives from two or more disciplines to advance fundamental understanding or to solve problems whose solutions are beyond the scope of a single discipline.

• A student may also select course(s) from domain electives, open electives, if available in the model framework for program structure of the program of study. Interdisciplinary Course may be from an unrelated discipline/subject, with the sole intention to seek exposure in that discipline/subject.

• A student makes her/his own semester academic planning worksheet based on the model framework for program structure of the program under study and may also have a choice from major/minor, dual or super specialization if available in the model framework for program structure.

• CBCS is a flexible system of learning that permits the students to make the best use of the expertise of the available faculty.

Examination Policy

Grading System
At the end of the semester, a student is awarded a grade in each of the courses he/she has taken during this period. The grade awarded to a student in a course will depend on his/her total performance in all the components of evaluation as designed by the instructor-in-charge.

There are eight letter grades: 'A+', 'A', 'B+', 'B', 'C+', 'C', 'D', and 'F' that have grade points with values distributed on a 10-point scale. The letter grades and the corresponding grade points on the 10-point scale are as given in the following table. In addition to these, the letter grades 'I', 'W', 'GA', 'S', and 'X' are used which stand for 'Incomplete', 'Withdrawal', 'Grade Awaited', 'Satisfactory' or 'Unsatisfactory' respectively. The grades for a minor project (a short project that's a month or less in duration) will be 'Satisfactory ('S')' or 'Unsatisfactory ('X')' grade.

For Minor Project, student can be awarded S/X i.e 'S' for Satisfactory and 'X' for Unsatisfactory.

'I' grade refers to an 'Incomplete' grade, which is required to be converted into a regular letter grade if the condition of required credits is not fulfilled. An 'I' grade must, however, be converted by the concerned faculty member into an appropriate letter grade within ten days from the completion of end semester examinations and communicated to the Registrar's Office/Controller of Examination Office by the last date specified in the academic calendar. A student may be awarded the grade 'I' (Incomplete) in a course if he/she has missed the end semester examination, for a genuine reason which is in the knowledge of university and the concerned instructor but has done satisfactorily in all other parts. An 'I' grade is not awarded simply because a student has failed to appear in examination(s). Any 'I' grade still outstanding two days after the last scheduled date, shall be automatically converted into 'F' grade.

An 'I' grade may be given for a major project only on medical grounds.

'W' Grade refers to the withdrawal from the program.

General Guidelines for the Award of Grades:
a. Each student will be awarded with suitable marks depending upon the performance of the student towards different components as specified in the lesson plan.
b. The marks of various components shall be added to get total marks which will then be converted to a 100 point scale for both theory courses and laboratory courses; this would help in creating a uniform standard.
c. The statistical method shall be used for the award of grades. The overall distribution of different grades must be as per the statistical distribution.
d. The awarded grades may be moderated by the Moderation Committee appointed by the Vice-Chancellor.

CGPA and SGPA
The performance of a student will be evaluated in terms of two indices, viz. the Semester Grade Point Average (SGPA) which is the Grade Point Average for a semester and Cumulative Grade Point Average (CGPA) which is the Grade Point Average for all the completed semesters at any point in time.

An example of these calculations is given in table below:

The concerned faculty member is also responsible for maintaining the full record of each student's attendance, performance in different components of evaluation, section/class average, mid-semester grading, copies of question papers and any record of evaluation which were not returned to the students. The concerned faculty member is also required to submit a requisite number of copies of all question papers and all hand-outs given to the students to the Examination Cell for permanent record in the University. If a scrutiny or statistical analysis becomes necessary the above records and any other pertinent information should be made available by the concerned faculty member of the course.
